FROM BARREN TO BEAUTIFUL — tells the story of Heights campus. In the fall of '61 only mud and a few grass spears covered the campus. Now the neatly clipped grass, the shrubbery, and the flowers catch the eye of passing Hillside motorists.

THE JERM PLAYED — the Falcons danced as rising Falcon fever brought an end to Falcon week activities.

as it was . . .

JUST A DECADE AGO the first Falcons entered their new school building. Construction was still going on as classes were in session. Of the seven periods, one was a seminar which all students were required to attend. They discussed current trends, how to improve their study habits, even books. This period was deleted when Heights became a part of the Wichita City System in 1963-64.

Some classes had no desks, the swimming pool was not finished, while typing students thumped on desks for practice. During the ten years the barren campus changed into the most beautiful one in the city with lush, neat-clipped grass lawns and attractive, well-arranged trees and shrubbery.

From the first, Falcon pride and spirit was evident . . . each year it soars higher, for the Falcons are unique.

SO CONFUSING — to be a sophomore, thinks Donna Knox, '73.

WITH THIS RING — the juniors betrothed their loyalty to the Class of '72. Clark Taylor admires the display ring worn by Patty Young.

Falcon take off . . .

TAKE OFF, August 31, saw 1,668 students high with hope and enthusiasm looking forward to a great year.

Falcons rejoiced at the liberal dress code. Mini, midi, and maxi lengths were a part of the girls' attire. Beards, mustaches, and long hair were "the in thing" for the boys.

FLIGHT TEN was onward, upward — Falcons never falter.

1. SENIOR TAKE OFF — on Flight 10. 2. AIMING — for a bull's eye. 3. YUM! YUM! — teachers were appreciated. 4. HARRIERS — tune up for a meet. 5. BRIGHT AND EARLY — buses unload. 6. MIGHTY FALCON — rules over Heights. 7. IRIS — denotes school pride. 8. HAVE ONE — Stuco hands out handbooks. 9. CHOO! CHOO! — Gotsa get my boomerang insists Jan.

LOTS OF TAPE — was needed for Falcon Week preparations. Sherry Balbierz, '71, Jean Fisher, '71, and Cathy Hall, '72, stuck streamers down.

SOMETIMES — sophomores have to take left-overs as Joanne Coleman, '73, found out when trying to find a band suit.

THAT'S MY NUMBER! — nervous contestants await B-team cheerleader tryouts. Patty Berry, '72, Debbie Pitts, '73, Michelle Black, '73, Peggy Huffman, '73, and Clair Curtis, '72, show their anxiety.

FANCY CLAP — sets the cheerleaders in motion at the first pep assembly, outdoors during Falcon Week.

"OKAY PEOPLE — this is what we can do." Student Council President Marc Minnis, '71, had a world of ideas to get both students and teachers involved in school activities.

as it is . . .

VICTORY WAS THE cry among the classes during the competition for the spirit stick. Students showed their exuberant spirit by stomping feet, clapping hands, and yelling for their own classes.

Dances, concerts, drama productions, and sports competition were all a part of extra-curricular activities. Students in clubs and organizations became involved and learned to adjust to people and events.

It was not all fun, though. Tests and homework were a daily part of a student's life. Field trips and films were teaching aids used in the classrooms. Teachers directed discussion groups, others required written research assignments, others used skits, educational games, films and records in their classes.

The variety offered, as well as the different teaching approaches, motivated students giving them a well-rounded background for future experiences.

Falcons can take it . . .

IMPATIENT STUDENTS waited for their report cards and wondered what they had earned. There was a mixture of happiness, disgust, anger, but most of all surprise when they saw their grades.

Along with their grades students worked hard for recognition, for victory, and assumed responsibilities . . . but the mighty Falcons took it all in stride.

1. DAYDREAMING — Cyndee Meyers, '72, forgets the books. 2. "WELL — another tardy admit?" asks Mr. Bailey. 3. MR. FASHION? — at least Bryan Haney, '73, was comfortable for his picture. 4. SECRET'S OUT — Karen Kelly, '71, is Mr. Falcon. 5. SENIORS — enroute to final flight. 6. "NOW, GIRLS." — Miss Drake explains net strategy. 7. SATURDAYS TOO? — gridders had to practice. 8. MORE RED — insists Janet Clift, '71, for posters which plastered the halls.

"YUCK!" — shrieks Deby Martens, '72, "I don't want it!"

FLYING HIGH — the flag announces another Falcon victory.

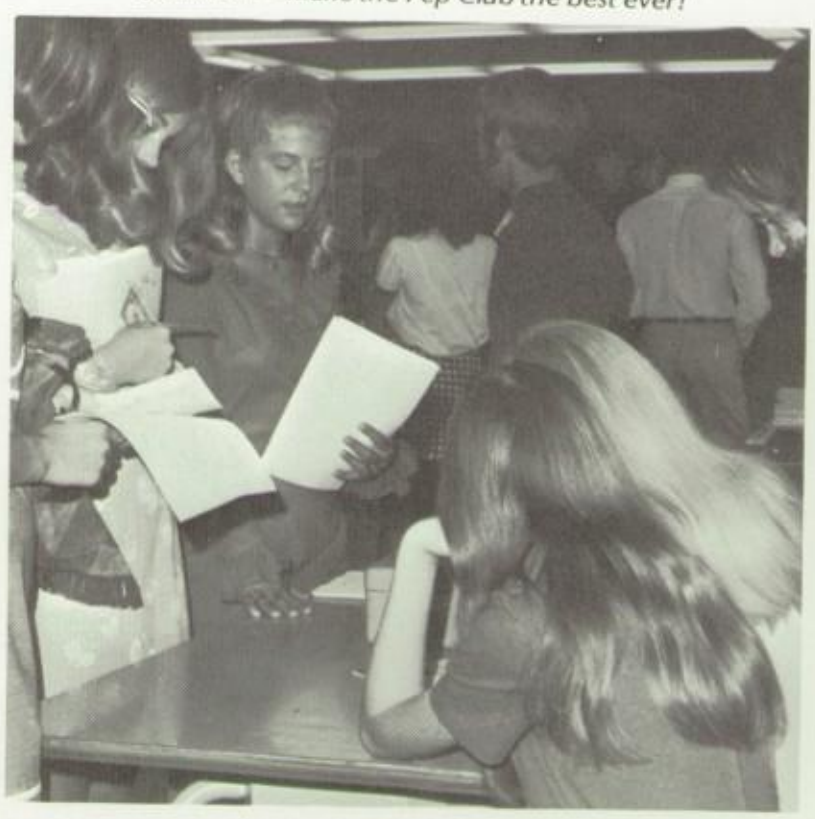
Falcons tune in IMPORTANT IN the Flight Ten schedule was the formation of clubs, classes, and organizations for the '70-71 school year. New friends were made — it was a time of change.

Using as a nucleus returning veterans from last year's squads, coaches molded new teams by promoting athletes who had experience on junior varsity teams.

Not only the sports experienced changes, the English Department reorganized the system this year giving students their choice of subjects.

Most students welcomed the changes — others were hesitant, but living in a changing world tuned in the Falcons to the never-ending challenge of life.

JOIN UP — make the Pep Club the best ever!



HAPPINESS IS — Attendant Colleen Johnson, '72; Lord Falcon Jim Collins, '71; Lady Falcon Valerie Bardwell, '71; and Attendant Kent Cooper, '72.

CROWNING GLORY — slips a little for Valerie and Jim.

JUNIOR ATTENDANTS — dream of being next year's top royalty.

Dr. Alvin E. Morris

guides Wichita schools

IN HIS THIRD term as superintendent of the Wichita Public School system, Unified District No. 259, Dr. Alvin E. Morris, superintendent of schools, had one of the biggest jobs in the city. Under his supervision 6 public high schools, 16 junior high schools, and over 90 elementary schools, and the area vocational-technical school received special attention.

When Heights joined the city system in July 1961, Dr. Morris was deputy superintendent under Dr. Lawrence Shepoiser.

To meet the challenge of changing times and student demands Principal Robert E. Anderson conferred often with Dr. Morris and the Board of Education in establishing school policies and resolving issues affecting Heights students.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS — Dr. Alvin E. Morris has headed the Wichita Public School System for the last two years.

AT HIS DESK — Dr. Anderson keeps close contact with the down town office on Broadway as well as parents, his school peers, and the many demands made of his time as a busy administrator.

HEAD PILOT of the Falcons for six years, Dr. Robert E. Anderson as principal of the newest city high school has directed the education of over 9,000 students in that time.

In describing the first year when Dr. Anderson was principal and assistant to Superintendent Carmen Wilcox, he said that it was "different." The major differences he noted between that year and this included student dress and behavior and classroom equipment. He added that one thing hasn't changed, the parking lots are just as muddy and dusty now as they were then.

Change has come to Heights in many ways. Some of it was instigated by students, but much of it has been because Dr. Anderson, a far-seeing administrator interested in the welfare of the Falcons, has insisted on progress.

"We are expanding all programs as we grow." he said. "We have tried new things and are trying newer things to see how they work out. Over all we are a better school because we provide for more students."

Residing in Maize with his wife, Dr. Anderson drives to school each morning in his Buick. His daughter Carol was married last summer. Daughter Dana is a freshman at KSU, Manhattan.

Dr. Robert E. Anderson, principal of Wichita High School Heights.

RETURNING — for his third year, Assistant Principal Jerry D. Bailey was in charge of scheduling the Falcon activities.

SHE UNDERSTANDS — can well be said of Mrs. Claradine Johnson who became the Falcons first lady assistant principal.

assistant principals

solve Falcon problems

Mr. Jerry D. Bailey

RETURNING for his third year as an assistant principal, Mr. Jerry D. Bailey had, as one of his many duties, that of scheduling all non-athletic student activities. Sophomore students with problems were referred to him also. His office next to Dr. Anderson's was a busy place, for he had many teachers to contact concerning upcoming events as well as student and parent conferences.

Mr. Bailey hopes to complete his work for a doctor's degree in the near future.

Mrs. Claradine Johnson

PROMOTED to assistant principal this year Mrs. Claradine Johnson became Heights first lady assistant principal. For the past five years she was a counselor. In this position she contacted students from all classes since the counseling department operated on the rotating basis beginning the fall of '66. Last year she was the senior counselor; this year her main responsibilities were again with the seniors.

Mrs. Johnson's understanding of student problems as well as her counseling experience qualified her well for the job of principal.

Mr. James Lininger

LOOKING BACK ten years wasn't too difficult for Mr. Jim Lininger, new busy assistant principal who also had the responsibility of athletic director. Since Heights opened its doors in the fall of 1961, Mr. Lininger has served in some athletic capacity. In his first year he was head football coach, swimming coach, and assistant track coach. This year in his new administrative position, his interest was centered around the problems of 558 juniors.

TWO JOBS — that of assistant principal and athletic director kept Mr. Jim Lininger busy.

TEACHERS LISTEN — as students spoke out about their likes and dislikes about school.

HEAD COUNSELOR — Mr. Norris Burke has been a faculty member since Heights was new in 1961. He advised juniors this year.

SENIOR COUNSELOR — Mr. Kenneth Gabrielson is in his second year at Heights.

JOINING THE GROUP — Dr. Anderson listened as Dr. Richard M. Hawes got the students to discuss school problems in a sensitivity session.

counselors

listen, try to help all

Mr. Norris Burke

"THEY CAN — who think they can" was a quote hanging on Head Counselor Norris Burke's office wall. As junior counselor he felt his responsibility was trying to help his juniors think this way — to believe in themselves and to find school more meaningful — to reach their fullest capacity as individuals — to help them travel over the rough spots and reach suitable answers in solving their problems.

Mr. Kenneth Gabrielson

HIS JOB Mr. Kenneth Gabrielson saw was as a "response person." Someone had a need and he responded to that need. Other than responding to the problems of students, Mr. Gabrielson helped seniors make appropriate college choices, tested them, and assisted them in making educational adjustments.

To unwind from his daily work load, Mr. Gabrielson played with his two children and enjoyed bicycle riding.

Mrs. Donna Bryan

A SPECIAL FANCY for horses and loving animals tells much about Mrs. Donna Bryan, a new counselor this year who had as her special interest the sophomores in whom she tried to instill trust and faith. She believes that counselors can only be as effective as students permit them to be.

Mrs. Bryan has been a head resident supervisor of a girls' dormitory and a licensed cosmetologist.

Mr. Wallace Gilkey

was appointed as counselor aide toward the end of the first semester. Because of his late appointment he is pictured on Page 24.

it takes hours of work to head a department

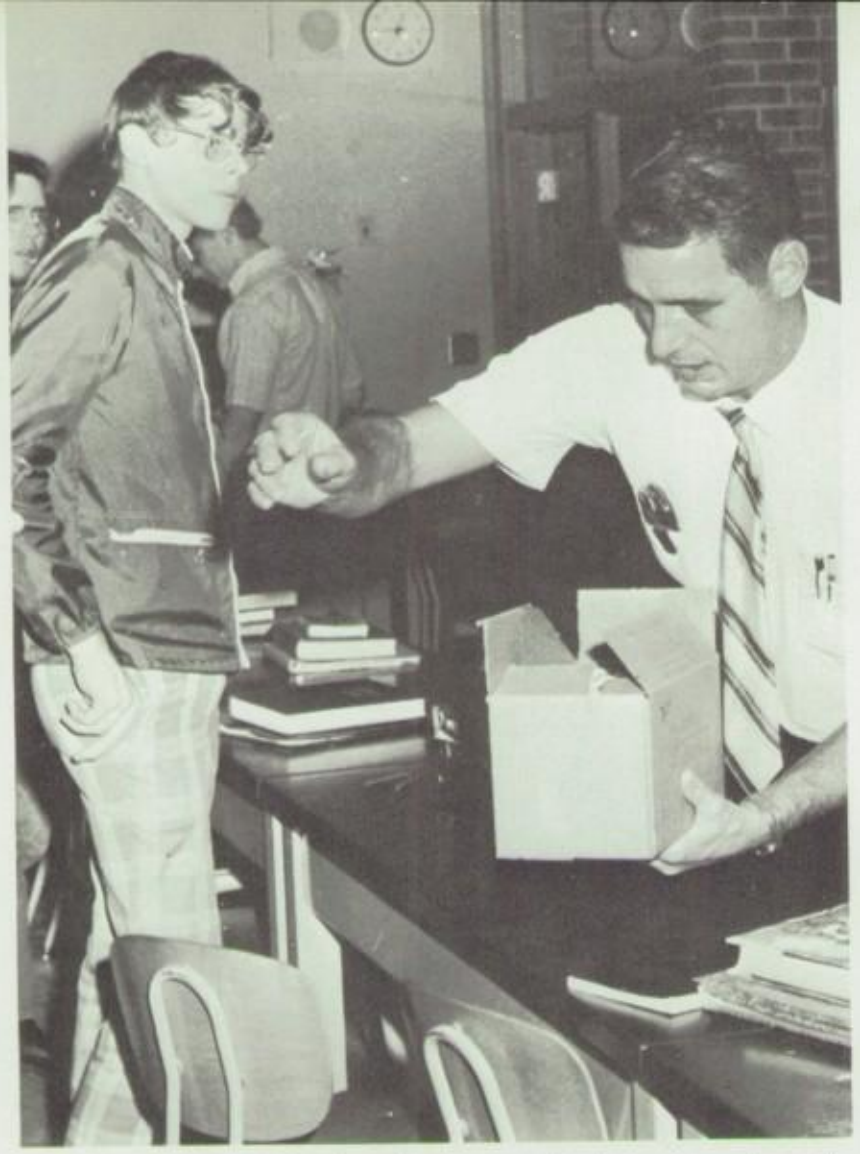
BEING A DEPARTMENT HEAD requires much time, work and organization as well as concentration. Ordering supplies is a constant worry besides being one which takes time. With growing enrollment, there never seems to be enough supplies to care for the needs of teachers and students.

Mr. Norris Burke, counseling coordinator, orders all counseling supplies for his department and directs the school testing program which is coordinated with the city system of testing. Teachers have become acquainted with his thorough preparation prior to testing and know just what they have to do when that time arrives.

Mr. Olin Hiebert heads the English Department and has perhaps the biggest job of all. Not only did he have 15 English teachers under his supervision he had foreigh languages, debate, speech, and drama too.

Other department heads have similar responsibilities. Attending and participating in city-wide coordinators' meetings then informing their staffs about the ideas and procedures which developed in these sessions is but a part of their work. They also helped new teachers get oriented in their classes and were responsible for getting substitutes for absent teachers. They assigned student teachers and aides to master teachers too.

TEACHERS LISTENED — as a Juvenile Judge Michael Corrigan told them about his work with minors. Touring the eighth floor of the court house was a part of the pre-school orientation days for faculty members.



TAKE THIS — Mr. Mast hands out test tubes for an experiment in isolation of protozoa and one-celled animals.

grows, adds courses

DISECTING FROGS, FIELD TRIPS, and studying plants were but a small part of the science department's activities the first ten years.

Originally six science classes were offered. They included basic science, biology, botany, chemistry, physiology, and physics. During the first year, students had to do without lab stools the first semester.

Two of the present teachers who have been at Heights since the first year in the science department were Mr. Hitch and Mr. Judd.

As the tenth year started, nine different subjects were offered. Added through the years were aeronautics, astronomy, geology, and zoology. Basic science is now physical science while botany was dropped. Along with Mr. Judd and Mr. Hitch, Mr. Mast, Mr. Matson, and Mr. Moore taught the different classes.

With such a large variety of science courses offered, a student was sure to find something in which he was interested. The average class size was about thirty or more students. With plenty of chairs and plenty of equipment, students were able to get a more thorough knowledge of the wonders of science.

language arts

students like change, have choice in classes

FOR THE LAST nine years, the English department concentrated on building college preparatory, the accelerated, the average, and the basic classes. This was the year for the "great change."

Last spring over 60 subjects were submitted to English students for them to select those courses which interested them. Students narrowed the courses to over 40. Then last September students enrolled themselves in four different areas, composition, literature, language arts, and language arts related subjects.

Faculty members worked over 500 hours of Labor Day weekend so that students could begin their new classes, September 8. The Faculty Lounge was a beehive of bustling teachers working in four groups against time to make the necessary scheduling changes. Tuesday morning came the change — a change repeated each nine weeks when students returned to their base room teachers for new assignments. Students liked the new system because it was a change from the old routine. College-bound students were still able to elect AP courses, college reading, humanities, speech, and debate.

Before the semester ended, faculty members met frequently to discuss and evaluate the new program. The possibility of six weeks and semester courses were considered rather than all courses being of nine weeks duration.

New courses were submitted for next year; some courses were to be phased out. Lack of materials and financial aid proved to be a problem. All courses, as originally planned, were to be refined.

It was all a part of the novel program — one that went very well in its initial period.

Mr. Olin Hiebert, Department Head.

SCHEDULING — classes for the new English program puzzled the staff. Mr. Thompson makes a suggestion.

DISCUSSION SESSIONS — in Miss Patton's "Satire and Humor" class gave Karmina, Smith, '73, Patty Haines, '72, and Joann Johnson, '73, a chance to "speak out."

Mrs. Carrie Walters — English.

Mrs. Mac Pedigo — reading.

Mrs. Mary O. Highsmith — special education.

Miss Mary Jabara— drama.

Mr. Sam Rawdon — debate, speech.

LEFT OR RIGHT TURN? — Janice Brunton, '73, wonders which Mr. Simmons will ask her to do.

drivers' education

emphasizes all areas

EMPHASIS WAS BASED on the All-State good-driver trainer this year. This is the third year it has been in use. The driver trainer, a simulated car, permit students to watch, react to, and get a good idea of the pressures in traffic. One computer recorded each student's reaction; another registered the number of mistakes each student made.

Students spent 12 hours in the driver trainer, 12 hours in observation, 3 hours behind the wheel, 12 hours of observation in the car, and 54 hours in the classroom.

Guest speakers met with the students throughout the year. A police officer lectured on drugs and alcohol three times. An insurance salesman gave liability expenses and costs resulting from accidents. A car dealer explained the techniques and knowledge necessary for getting a good buy when purchasing a car.

About 24 students per hour, six hours each day were enrolled in the courses. The classes enabled over 100 students each semester to earn restricted licenses to drive cars provided they passed the final test.

fine arts

appeals to the talented

STARTING THE TENTH year with a new director, Mr. Cleo Rucker, the 125 piece marching band practiced early morning and evening sessions preparing for half-time shows. They were the only band to earn a No. 1 rating at WSU Band Day in October. Pep band members donned their red and black sweaters sparking Falcon spirit at pep rallies and basketball games.

The orchestra worked hard for their first public concert November 5. With marching season over, the band settled back in their chairs and practiced for their upcoming concerts. To retain their top rating in the state music festival, members put out top effort.

Presenting three concerts, playing in contests, and participating in the musical in the spring of the year were the main events for the vocal music department headed by Mr. Wayne Holmstrom.

Art students all showed individualism when making the different designs in many medias. Making macrames was an exciting project for some. Participating in the Scholastic Art Award Exhibit, and displaying exhibits in the Commons Area and in the show case were but a few of the activities in the art department.

HUMMING — as he accompanies the girls' ensemble, Mr. Holmstrom enjoys his class.

Mr. Norman Terry — art, design, painting.

Mr. Terry C. Aikins — art, sculpture, ceramics, crafts.

Mr. Cleo Rucker — instrumental music

Mr. Fred L. Simmons — drivers' education

Mr. Jack L. Mahan — drivers' education

DOING THE WINDMILL — helps get the boys in physical condition.

physical education

action-packed program

SHARING, scheduling, and keeping girls' and boys' physical education classes on the go in one gym during bad weather was a challenge to the five gym teachers. Taking turns in the gym, gymnastics room, wrestling room, and in the swimming pool was also demanded planned scheduling. On sun shiny, warm days scheduling was easier since there was ample room outdoors for tennis, archery, hockey, track events, touch football, or even soccer.

For the first time a competitive swimming program for girls became a reality. For the first three weeks, three times each week the girls competed in practice swimming sessions.

During off-season sports boys were able to compete in an intramural sports program thus getting extra hours and developing prowess in the athletic sport they liked best. It also gave them a chance to test their abilities in different sports besides a chance to compete and get much needed exercise.

Mr. Dee Gard, Department Head

Mr. Hugh Nicks — physical science, physical education.

Mr. Lafayette Norwood — physical education.

Miss Jean Drake — girls' physical education.

Mrs. Linda Hagler — girls' physical Education.

Mr. Clark Herrin — study hall.

GETTING IN SHAPE — was an aim of the physical education department, and putting the boys through exercises such as jumping jacks was a part of the program.

Mrs. Rose Marie Estill — Spanish I, II, III.

Mr. A. Ledesma — Spanish I, drivers' education.

Mr. Gerhard Nickel — German I, II, physical science, geology, astronomy.

Mrs. Jan Weldin — French I, II, basic composition, modern drama.

Mrs. Truly E. Yust — Latin I, II, introduction to art.

foreign languages

increase in enrollment

PERIODE DE DIX ANA, Jahrzehnt, decada, and decem anni! In four different languages, but with a meaning the same, the words have not changed the last decade. Clubs in French, German, Latin, and Spanish classes have changed mainly in size.

Mrs. Truly E. Yust, Latin teacher, was the lone foreign language teacher who taught at Heights all 10 years. Fifty-five students took the course this year. Latin Club, now over 60 members, was formed the first year, but the JCL Charter was not granted until the second year.

A total of 152 Spanish students, the highest in enrollment, was taught by Mrs. Rose Marie Estill and Mr. A. Ledesma, new to Heights this year.

Mrs. Jan Weldin, also new to Heights, taught French to 80 students. This spring the club sponsored a French dinner.

Using a toy car and wearing a blue hat Mr. Gerhard Nickel got his students to express German ideas. A total of 76 were enrolled in German I and II classes.

HOW IT'S DONE — Mr. Aikins shows Carol Miller, '71, the art of shaving candles.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR CLASSMATES? — Forming a circle in an English composition class, Room 122, sensitivity trainers had students take turns identifying their fellow classmates.

SHOWER OF SPARKS — flares out as John Johnson, '71, smoothes out a rough spot on his project in welding class.

practical arts

adds vocational classes

DOING MORE THAN KEEPING pace in the last 10 years was the proud claim of the Industrial Arts Department which has added another area to their offerings, vocational education.

Ten years ago most industrial arts classes had no work benches or even tools. Much of the printing equipment was at least 40 years old. Their up-to-date equipment includes a linotype, paper cutters, folders and shapers. Plans are underway to install a dark room with platemaking and developing equipment. This will enable students to learn the offset printing method.

Vocational classes meeting this year included auto mechanics and welding. The possibility of expansion in this area is in the planning stages too. At present a large group of boys take their training at WAVTS on the grounds of East High.

Department Head: Roger K. Birckhead.

DESIGNING — and making cutting boards, a project in Mr. Fowler's class, tests Randall Fooshee's, '73, skill.

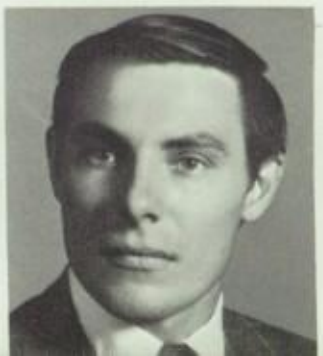
Mr. James Fowler — graphic arts, woodwork, drafting

Mr. Logan Guffey — Woodwork II, III, welding.

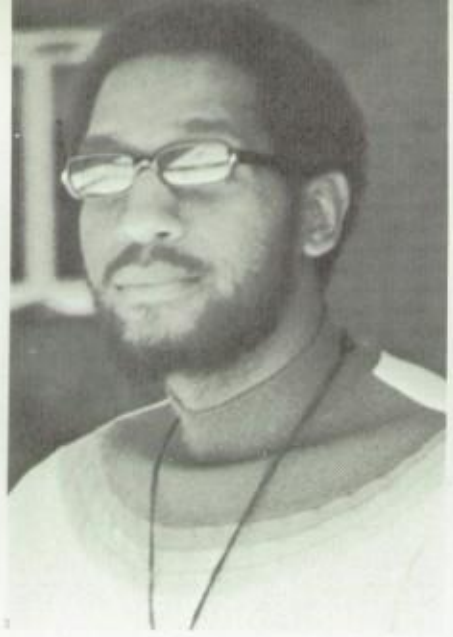
Mr. Oren L. Smith — Welding I, II, related information, Vocational Welding I.

Mr. Richard F. Tackkett — Metals I, auto mechanics, auto information.

Mr. Eldon Zimbelman — auto mechanics.



Mr. Ronal Johnson — special education, government, drivers' education.



Mr. Wallace Gilkey — counselor

social studies

gets students involved

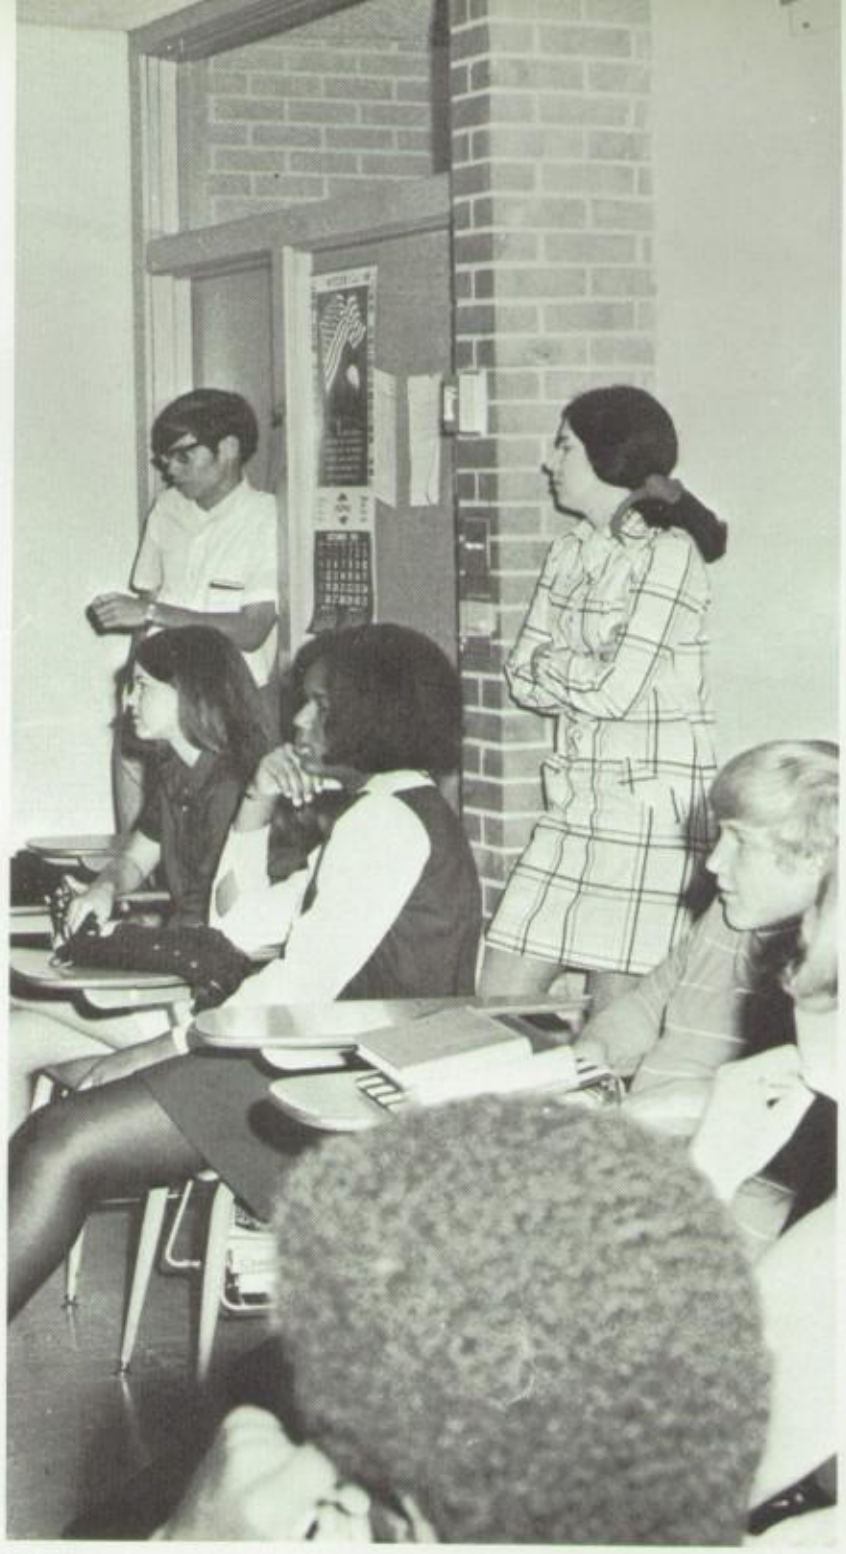
NEW TECHNIQUES and methods replaced the old system of teaching social studies this year.

Using the inductive method, students formed their own opinions after being exposed to both sides of an issue. Simulations and debates concerning events were a part of the new approach involving students. Films made by students were a new way of making past events come to life.

Following the Docking-Frizzell race as well as other state and local office seekers kept government students busy. Trips to Republican and Democratic headquarters stimulated interest.

Psychology students volunteered time and assistance to the Institute of Logopedics, Headstart, and nursing homes. Sociology students conducted opinion polls and surveys. Through the new approach students learned to think, understand, and to be themselves.

Department Head: Mr. Deb Johnson



LISTENING — to their own voices on tapes drew rapt attention from the members of Mrs. Bloodhart's American history class.

Mr. Patrick N. Adamson — American history, government, current affairs.

Mrs. Donna Copley — psychology, American history.

Mrs. Nancy Cruce — American history, government.

Mr. Paul R. Lueker — government, American history.

Mr. Shui Shankar — American and world history, geography.

Mrs. Patricia Bloodhart — American history.

Mrs. Jane Ware — sociology, Negro history, American history.

Mrs. Bernice Dean — Foods I, II.

Mrs. Ludora Herndon — Clothing I, II, III.

Mrs. Susan Ann Matthews — child development, Clothing I.

ADDING IS FUN — on a machine. Connie Green, foreground, Karen Kelly, Melissa Stevens, and Bobbi Efflandt are clerical training students.

BUSINESS CLASSES started this year with the new wireless electronic system. The six-channel cassette system was used in the typing, shorthand, machine, secretarial, and office education rooms. The electric lab system, used as a resource center, was applied at all levels of learning.

In the fall of 1961 the business department started out with 70 manual typewriters, 6 IBM electric typewriters and 4-ten-key adding machines. Since then an office lab full of a wide selection of calculating machines and a full complement of electric typewriters, the business department added three IBM executive typewriters.

New and revised business offerings for 27 classes with an enrollment of 776 students were introduction to business A and B for sophomores, office machines, personal typing, and clerical training for sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Department Head: Mr. Keith Wilson.

MRS. DELORES EADES — business law, and math, introduction to business, salesmanship.

MRS. VERA A. HUNTER — office machines, shorthand, office education.

MRS. SUE INGRAM — shorthand, record keeping, clerical training office machines.

MRS. WILMA PALTAN-AVAGE — secretarial training, office machines, business communications, Typing II.

MR. CLARENCE H. HORN — geometry, algebra, business arithmetic.

home economics

gears to needs, interest

TEACHERS IN THE home economics department geared their programs to the needs, interests, and the abilities of their students.

Their aims were to develop understanding and appreciation of the ideals of worthy home membership through the study of different areas and phases of courses offered this year.

Home and family classes attempted to help solve students problems by serving on class counseling panels. Problems and questions were submitted to students and solutions were sought through group discussions.

Child development classes used the knowledge they learned in class to teach in actual nursery school situations. Basic skills, and techniques in garment structure were learned in the clothing classes. Foods classes still sent tantalizing aroma through the halls tempting students as they walked by the department.

Department Head: Mrs. Margaret Skewes.

CONCENTRATION — and patience, Patty Berry, '72, finds are necessary in making the latest fashions.

mathematics

attacks problem solving

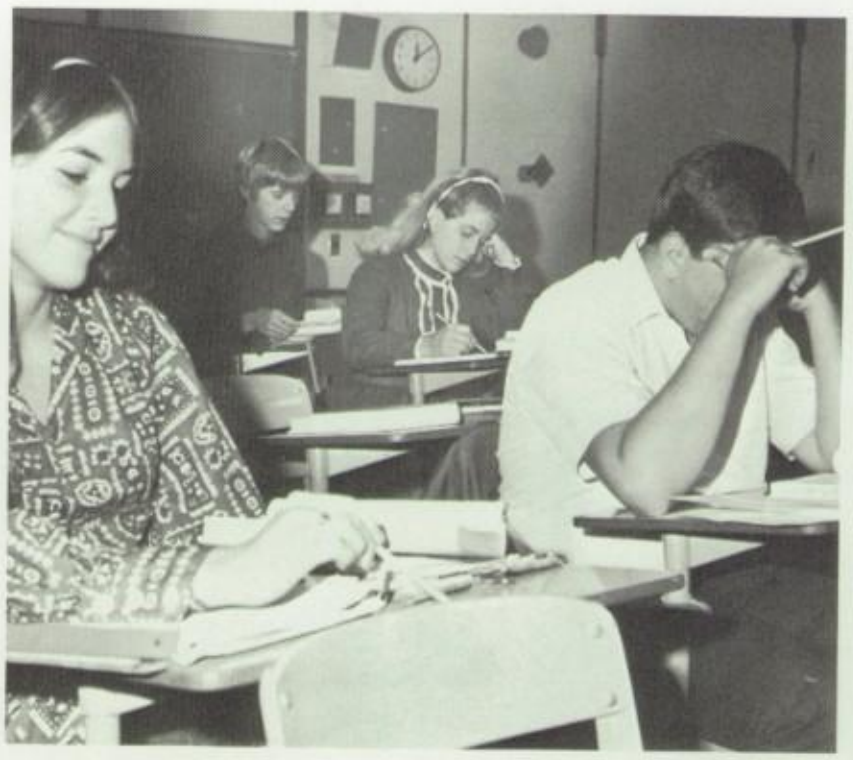
OVER 800 students enrolled in seven mathematics courses ranging from business arithmetic to calculus.

Under the supervision of five mathematics teachers students explored the fields of business arithmetic, Algebra I, Algebra II, geometry, analytical geometry, calculus, and trigonometry.

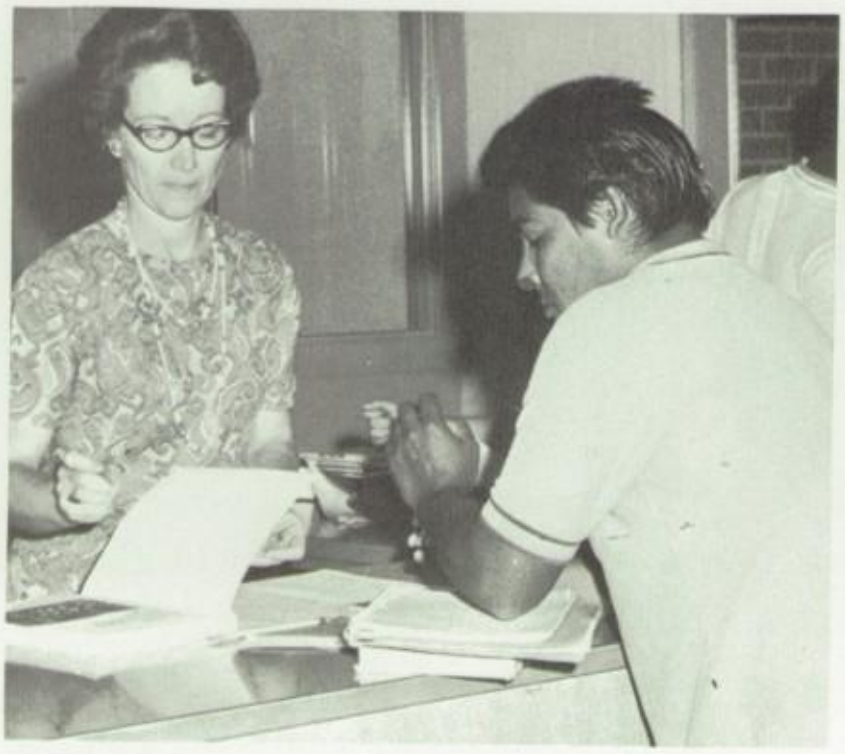
Of the 25 math classes, there were three in business arithmetic, five in Algebra I, six in Algebra II, nine in geometry, and two hours of trigonometry first semester with analytical geometry second semester. Since only nine students enrolled in calculus, it was learned on a self-taught basis. This group met in the back of the room of Mr. Rogers' trigonometry class.

These courses in reasoning and problem solving challenged each student to do his best while developing an understanding of mathematics and how it operates.

Department Head: Mr. Louis Rogers



HARD OR EASY? — for Cindy Ricketts, '73, it seems easy, but to Tim Koontz, '72, Peggy Huffman, '73, and Jimmy Mc Clure, '73, maybe not.



NEEDED — for a report. Gilbert Flores, '71, checks out reference materials.

a place to learn, study

TO READ, to study, to talk, and to learn — the library provided an atmosphere for more serious students.

Shelves of books, neatly organized, were not nearly enough for student demands. The axis around which all books revolved was the card catalog located along the north wall near the conference room.

Materials from the vertical file and magazines, past and present, helped students who were researching projects and writing term papers. Work was the main word as the deadline for research papers drew near.

Conference rooms for debate study, the audio-visual department for help in classroom learning, and a staff of willing, helpful workers rounded out the Heights library for the 1970-71 year.

Head Librarian: Mrs. Nadine Ritchey.

Mr. Ralph Hoagland — geometry, Algebra II.

Mr. Royal H. Owens — geometry.

Mr. Mose Stucky — business math, Algebra II.

Mrs. Ardeth Hawthorne — librarian.

Mrs. Nadine Ritchey — librarian.

care about the Falcons

PROMOTING student health education was Nurse Faldtz's aim this year.

Among her many duties were the dental check program and vision and hearing tests. Most common daily complaints of students were headaches, stomach aches, and sore throats.

Besides checking student health, she was a counselor and an adviser to those who sought someone to talk with concerning their problems. Nurse Faldtz enjoyed her job and the rewards that went with it.

Her special interest was the Medical Careers Club, for she started and promoted continued interest in this group.

two familiar faces

PATROLLING hallways and assisting students were but a couple of duties that Security Matron Mrs. Lora Butler and Security Guard Mr. Marvin Covey shared this year.

Mrs. Butler was with Boeing Aircraft before coming to Heights, March of 1970. Checking restrooms and corridors helped to fill Mrs. Butler's day.

Checking parking lots for unauthorized cars and assisting with more serious offenses made Mr. Covey's duties a continuous challenge.

BEFORE YOU LEAVE — "I'll have to call your parents," is a familiar phrase students will always remember nurse Ernestine Faldtz.

NOT ENOUGH BOXES — for faculty mail, but Miss Reeves finds a place for every item.

front, back offices

keeps tab on everyone

A THOUSAND AND ONE jobs were done each day in the front and back offices. Telephones rang steadily, secretaries typed busily, students rushed in wanting to speak to Dr. Anderson, the assistant principals, or the counselors. It was all a part of the daily confusion.

Mrs. McClellan, at Heights since it first opened, checked and recorded an average of nearly 200 absences per day. Telephoning and taking calls from parents added to her busy routine. Miss Reaves handled all data-processing such as report cards. Mrs. Weir kept the records of credits earned by students as well as checking the requirements for graduating seniors.

Mrs. Lafferty, Dr. Anderson's secretary, was in charge of teacher absences. Mrs. Tjaden, new this year, was the bookkeeper. Mrs. Marlow, in the guidance center, was the secretary for all three counselors. Collecting money, duplicating papers and tests for teachers, lunch tickets, and all the other paper work that goes with her job seemed never ending.

Each hour saw a change of student proctors. Office personnel trained them to operate the switchboard and the various office duplicating machines, check attendance records, and deliver important messages to classrooms in a business-like manner. Proctor help proved valuable to them as well as good training for the students.

CHECKING RECORDS — all members of front and back office work in the conference room. Assistant Principal Claradine Johnson, when she was here, directed the work. In late October this room was divided into two offices, one for the new assistant principal and one for Mr. Lininger.

modern from the first

FOR THE PAST ten years Mrs. Thelma Kieferle has reported daily to the kitchens of Heights to prepare nourishing well-balanced meals for famished Falcons.

She was assisted in the daily preparation of food by a staff of 23 cooks, one porter, and two catering truck drivers. Together, they prepared enough food for over 1,600 students, including 440 meals daily which were shipped to Ingalls Elementary School under the Title I operation.

Heights kitchens have had the most modern equipment from the very beginning. Only a few additions have been made to accommodate the growing proportions of food prepared each day.

The snack bar, which opened the first year, was the first facility of its type to open in a Wichita high school. It has the distinction of being the only one now operating in the city high schools. Sandwiches, soft drinks, and malts for those who prefer a lighter lunch were a speciality that hungry students and faculty members enjoyed during the noon hour.

maintain a shiny home

MAINTAINING the building was an all-year job requiring efficient work which was made easier through the years by finding short cuts.

Although the labor required hours of after-school time, it was taken for granted by most Falcons who saw a shining school each morning they reported for school. The maintenance staff of 11 worked long hours, both in and out-of-doors, cleaning and heating the building plus maintaining the campus area. The group was lively, especially at lunch, where they found time to swap stories and enjoy a relaxed and entertaining part of their day.

Mr. Larry Underwood headed the custodial staff of the building while Mr. Jim Upchurch supervised the outside grounds. Mr. Roy Harrison kept the boilers running and the rooms heated, making the Falcons home a pleasant place to live. These, plus many more duties kept Heights' campus and building pleasant and attractive.

WITHOUT FAIL — they're always there when needed, Mrs. Lora Butler, security matron, and Mr. Marvin Covey, security guard.

ENGINEERS — Mr. Bill Patrick joined Mr. Roy Harrison, chief, this year in keeping the building heated and the annexes cool. These were but two of their duties.

student council

aims for involvement

THE COUNCIL worked towards being a productive organization, one that brought active involvement and participation to the students.

The Sophomore Olympics stimulated sophomore interest and gave a sense of unity to the Baby Falcons. Beyond the Falcons corridors, STUCO contributed $385 towards the WSU Football '70 Fund to help the cause which resulted from the tragic air accident, October 2. The Council also collected for United Fund and participated in the March of Dimes Bread Sale. Among its other varied duties and activities were the sponsoring of dances and selling donuts and milk before school.

CHANGE has been the word, and change is what the Talon '71 wanted. Photographers were kept on the run to capture "Flight Ten" in its teenage exuberance and action.

Approximately 1,200 yearbooks were sold through student sales and activity tickets. Selling bout 600 Hotlines, the student directory, was another accomplishment.

Writing copy, scheduling pictures, typing, cropping, and pasting pictures were all a part of yearbook assignments. Redrawing the teachers' section proved to be a challenge and then a disappointment when teachers had been overlooked. It was back to the drawing board but places were found for them as you can see.

The staff nominated candidates for Talon King and Queen. The student body then voted for them. They were crowned in a special assembly, not as in previous years at the Christmas Dance.

Alphabetizing and distributing sophomore and junior pictures, publishing the senior magazine, distributing prom pictures were all a part of the action-packed year, but the best of all came when the staff presented you with this pictoral remembrance of "Flight Ten."

THEIR RESPONSIBILITY — was to see that everything for the Talon '71 was done. Assistant Editor Janice Gregg, '71, and Editor Verna Berry, '71, did just that.

black studies, human relations groups organize

THE BLACK STUDIES club was organized primarily to help the needs of the black student. It was to deal with immediate problems such as (1) Tutorial aid for students who needed assistance with their classroom grades. (2) It provided services to the community (at large) that allowed the club to make money so that it might sustain itself. (3) It exposed the black student to the financial aid that can be received if the student wished to attend college. BSC hoped to become part of the regular school curriculum which is so vital to the need of the students.

ONCE A WEEK a group of 10 representatives met to discuss and try to find solutions for problems arising in school life and in society. Members were elected by the student body. Students could take their problems to the committee and be assured that they would not be ignored.

The committee felt they improved relations between students and generated a greater understanding. They were a new group, but hope the future will be better for their efforts.

moves into new home

STARTING THE year with a new adviser, a new home, three of last year's staff members, and no telephone, the Highlighter was published bimonthly the first semester. At the beginning of the second semester Journalism I students published their own paper alternating every other issue with the Highlighter staff.

Learning the hardships of collecting facts and changing them into an informative story was part of the Journalism I's class homework. Deadlines, copyreading, typing, getting ads, layout, exchanging paper with other schools, trips to the printers and post office, searching for facts and converting them into stories were a few of the jobs assigned to the nine staff members.

With such a small staff everyone was expected to do his individual assignments and whatever else needed to be done in order for the paper to meet its deadline. Each paper included academic coverage, sports, features, plus outside news about the Falcons.

At all hours of the school day a staff member was available in Room 9, after having the phone, to answer calls from advertisers wishing to place ads.

proves 'stage has lure'

SCORING A HIT with "Hello Dolly," the magnificent spring musical was nothing unusual for the Drama Department under the direction of Miss Mary Jabara. It's expected.

Known for her well chosen casts, Miss Jabara is so well liked that her drama classes are always overloaded — and she gives each one a chance to perform during the year. Each student is given his chance to live a dream of being on the stage facing a live audience. No one is overlooked.

"Professional" describes the stage settings and her stage crews work, "round the clock" to build scenery which glides on wheels for fast changes. The minutest details get critical surveyance from her experienced eye.

"Evening of Entertainment" in the fall delighted audiences as did the Christmas musical "Mr. Scrooge." "The Timid Dragon" was presented to Amelia Earhart students by the Thespians "To Kill a Mocking Bird" was the spring play.

STARTING IN the new season with a goal of 15 trophies, the debate team by December had already captured 14. Two more trophies were added before the state meet. Heights placed third in the regional qualifying four for state competition.

By earning the 16 trophies, more than double the highest previous record which was six in 1968, the debaters had more than accomplished their goal.

By working night and day with index cards, magazines, and file boxes, debate teams met competition head on.

Resolved: that the Federal Government should establish, administer, and finance programs to control air and water pollution in the United States was the season topic.

Excitement was present, November 20-21, when over 80 teams from 40 Kansas schools participated in the Wichita Heights "Heart of America" invitational. This was the first use of the new title for Heights largest tournament.

A new way to earn money for the debate trips and expenses, was by running the school book store, which responsibility the debate team was given by the administration.

Members earned about $200 by distributing handbills, painting house numbers on curbs, and from club dues. They plan to use the money to purchase a radio transceiver.

The club set up classes to teach code to prospective members. Members participated in conversations with amateurs across the country and a few in foreign countries.

LATIN CLUB, the largest language club at Heights, was sponsored by Mrs. Truly E. Yust.

Guest speakers, music refreshments, and parties were a part of all gatherings. One meeting was devoted entirely to music; another was used to initiate new members.

The annual Latin Club Banquet, celebrated Latin Week in April, commemorated the founding of ancient Rome.

CHRISTMAS CAROLING in French was one of the highlights of French Club this past year. The club's activities also included a French dinner in the spring, a masquarade party, and an exchange student from France telling about her country.

French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Jan Weldin, had a membership of approximately 20.

GERMAN GOODIES, speakers, work, and parties were only a small part of the German Klub agenda.

The Klub, sponsored by Mr. Gerhard Nickel, had a membership of 20. They met once a month. At meetings, guest speakers told of their experiences in Europe. Club members joined the National Federation of Students of German for the second year.

SPANISH CLUB, sponsored by Mrs. Rose Marie Estill, met once every two weeks and had a membership of 32.

They had dances and a bake sale. At Christmas members enjoyed a Spanish dinner at a Spanish restaurant. Getting acquainted was the aim of this gathering.

A steering committee was created to keep the members informed of its activities.

concerts highlight year

NEARLY 200 students were members of vocal groups this year. Directed by Mr. Wayne Holmstrom, music department head, the groups presented three main vocal concerts throughout the year. The spring concert featured music of America from the 1800's up to 1970.

Concert choir, a selected group of approximately 80 vocalists, presented the performances to several community affairs and at area junior and senior high schools. In March the group planned a trip to Kansas City to sing for different schools there.

"The Farmers' Daughters," a newly organized vocal ensemble of 13 junior girls, performed in concerts and for city and state music festivals.

Madrigals ensemble represented Heights in many civic activities. A select group that specialized in musical numbers ranging from the Renaissance period to the popular sound of contemporary music, the group opened their busy year of performances in November.

Christmas season was the most hectic, but happiest, for the singers. Engagements at local nursing homes, hospitals, and conventions highlighted their season.

April brought the CLASS 5-A state music festival in which the choir, several ensembles, and soloists participated.

The vocal music department wrapped up a very busy year by joining with the instrumental and drama departments in the presentation of the spring musical, "Hello Dolly."

band adds new groups

WE'RE NO. 1! That's the rating the band received at WSU's Band Day, October 28. It was the only 5-A high school to receive that rating. Under the direction of Mr. Cleo Rucker, new this year, and guided by drum major Kendall Scheer, '71, the marching band put on its unequaled performance.

An added attraction this year was the unit of 12 banner girls. The girls, in uniforms of red sweaters and black skirts, carried banners of red and black as they participated in the patterns and formations performed by the band.

Another innovation was the stage band. Prior to this year, stage band was an extracurricular group.

MUSIC from the masters of the symphony, Beethoven, Mozart, and Tschaikovsky, to music by more contemporary artists, Nelson and Saint Saens-Issac, gave the Orchestra's first concert of the year a special tone.

Under the direction and guidance of Mr. Cleo Rucker, who formerly headed East High's band, the 64-member orchestra performed in the Christmas concert, a winter concert, and a spring concert.

Although the orchestra has not received as much recognition in past years as has the band, members of the orchestra and their enthusiastic new conductor earned recognition through their excellent performances.

pep club

their spirit set the pace for Falcon victories

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT! — rang from the throats of Pep Club members as they cheered the Falcon teams to victory throughout the sports' seasons. The never ending duties of the club were accomplished with high enthusiasm and true loyal support. Pep Club members, working together on committees, made the Homecoming one of the best Heights has ever had. Other activities put on by Pep Club was the annual junior-senior Powder Puff classic, the Sweetheart Dance, Dad's Night, and the numerous after school poster parties. Pep Club was the part of school life that added excitement, relieved the monotony of study, and broke all bands of tension between the girls. The club stood by their Alma Mater bringing honor to our school.

Falcon fortune changes in last game of season

THE COLD, blustery night didn't affect spirits as the Falcons powered over Salina, 21-14, in their second win and their final game of the season. By defeating the Salina Cougars and the East High Aces, the Falcons ended the season with a 2-7 record. City competition was tough with the proof lying in the fact that three City League teams (North, Bishop Carroll, and Kapaun) competed in the State championship play-offs, November 21. Kapaun won the 3-A title.

In the '71 season Heights could experience its best grid year when an expected 20 junior lettermen return to bolster the Falcon eleven. Backed up by a fine sophomore team that posted a 4-4 season, Heights tri-captains for the '71-72 season juniors Frank Messinger, Lafayette Childs, and David Paysen should find their team nearer the top of CL rankings.

John Kadel, '71, earned second team honors in the All-City defense team. Lafayette Childs, '72, and Bruce Chaffee, '71, earned honorable mention.

TALKING OR PRAYING? — to the men up high, Coach J. Mahan hopes for an answer about strategy against North at Cessna stadium.

LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY — the Falcons were leading Salina South 6-0 at halftime and juniors John King, 87, and Roger Harrison, 24, wanted to see that seniors John Kadel, 36, and Duane Patrick, 50, ended the season in a blaze of glory.

cagers play close ones, place fifth in league

AFTER A GOOD start, a one-point loss to highly rated Hutchinson, the Falcons ran into trouble, losing the first three games. Completing the first round of City League play with a 2-6 record the young Falcons finally caught fire. Losing to Hutchinson again, the cagers knocked off two highly rated teams, Washington and Great Bend, for a fifth place finish in the McPherson Invitational.

Back to City League play, rivals began taking the Falcons more seriously. Highlight of the second round of City competition was a four-game winning streak in which the Falcons romped over Kapaun, South, Carroll, and avenged a one-point earlier loss to East, beating them by a single point as they had in the first meeting.

"Improvement" is how Coach Lafayette Norwood described his team's season performance. The Falcons were fifth in CL rankings.

pride pervades squad despite league loss

SPIRIT, ENTHUSIASM, and pride was never lacking in the wrestling squad despite their first loss of the City League championship, the lone loss after seven consecutive years.

Slaughtering North, 42-7, and slipping by West, 24-22, the Falcon matmen captured third place in City League competition, with South claiming the crown and Kapaun runner-up.

Coming in for a close second place in the Heights Invitational, the wrestlers chalked up four first places. Salina replaced the Falcons as tournament champions.

At the district in Derby the wrestlers captured second place, qualifying seven wrestlers for the regional. Falcon matmen finished fifth in the regionals at Ark City; they placed fifth in the state tournament at El Dorado.

Senior John Kadel, (155 lbs.), with a perfect 25-0 record had a record high of 22 pins, retaining his state crown for the second successive year. Others placing in state competition were sophomore Mike Hultine, (105 lbs.) second, and junior Doug Clark, (145 lbs.) placing fourth. Garden City nosed out Ark City, 41-39, for the state crown.

Six returning wrestlers will provide the Falcons with prospects of a strong team for next year's mat season.

track

hopes for better season

CONTINUING the "rebuilding period" for Heights, five Falcons qualified for the 1970 State Track and Field meet. Richard Barcus, '70, one of the qualifiers, set a new school record of 16' 3" pole vaulting in season competition.

Other state qualifiers were Wendell Johnson, '70, who tied a previous school record of 6' 3" in the high jump; Doug Lee, '70, gained status by taking two gold medals in the Hutchinson regional; Steve Wills, '70, in the javelin set a new school record of 197' 2". Mark Jackson was the only state competitor from the Class of '71.

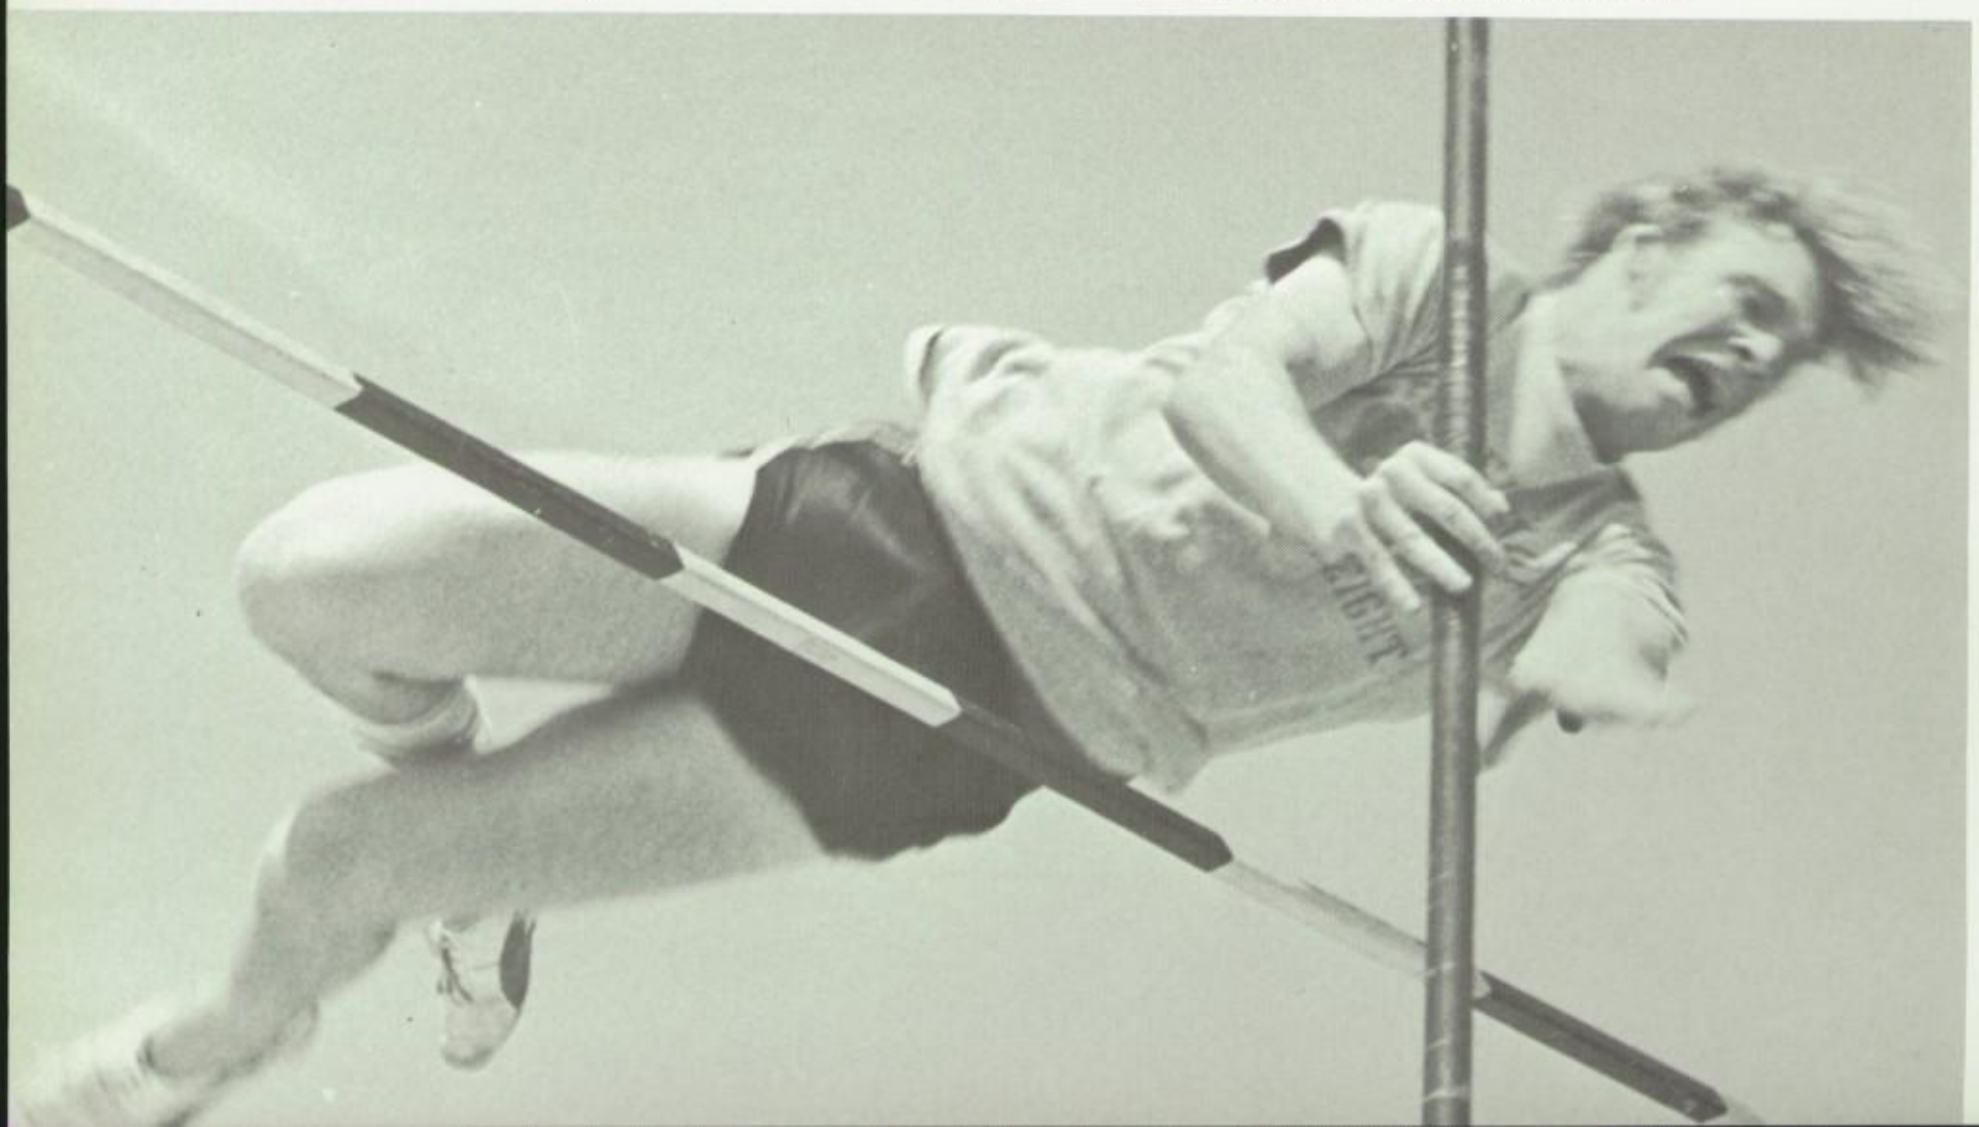
VETERAN COACH — Mose Stucky isn't discouraged, but he keeps hoping the Falcons will have a better season.

RECORD SETTER — Richard Barcus, '70, set a new school record in the pole vault with his 16' 3" vault over the bar.

TRACK SQUAD — FRONT ROW: L. Childs, S. Anderson, R. Mullenax, V. Anderson, J. Gossett, R. Johnson, S. Peebler, T. Savaino, D. Callison, D. Elwood, H. Reynolds, L. Nickolls. ROW 2: L. Nuckolls, R. Barcus, D. Lee, W. Fowler, S. Wells, K. Cooper, B. Ray, N. Robinson, M. Jackson, H. Hunt, R. Todd. ROW 3: Coach Herrin, Coach Adamson, Coach Stucky, K. Barnett, W. Johnson, E. Elving, J. Lee, J. Myers, J. Silvertooth, F. Messinger, W. Moore, W. Ligon, C. Saunders, D. Lusk, N. Fischer, J. Dorsey, G. Embree.

ALMOST PERFECT DAY — for the Heights Relays gave competitors a chance to set records. A highlight of the activities was the crowning of Karen Crandall, '72 as track queen.

MADE IT — Jeff Lee, '71, pushes away the pole as he clears the bar and prepares for his landing on the foam mat. No one but the vaulter understands just what it takes to do this feat. Jeff's expression explains some of this to non-competitors.



GETTING READY — for the hurdles, timers wait and pole vaulters practice. School was turned out so spectators could watch the relays and see the queen crowned.

PHOTO FINISH — Warren Moore, '71, and South apponent battle neck-and-neck to break the tape and claim the gold medal at the Heights Relays.

RELAXING — was a part of the meet as athletes gathered in groups where they visited and had fun — all a part of track competition.

WHAT'S MY TIME? — ask curious competitors as they peer over Mr. Norris Burke's shoulders. Mr. E. Zimbelman, far right, seems interested, too.

CONCENTRATING — on the play. Lloyd Kelley, '71, warms up for his turn at the bat against Bishop Carroll.

INTENT — on hitting the ball, Rick Banister, '73, warms up as the game progresses against Carroll.

IT'S A HIT — for Bill Baxter, '70, as he slams one into left field. The Carroll catcher is ready for the throw home.

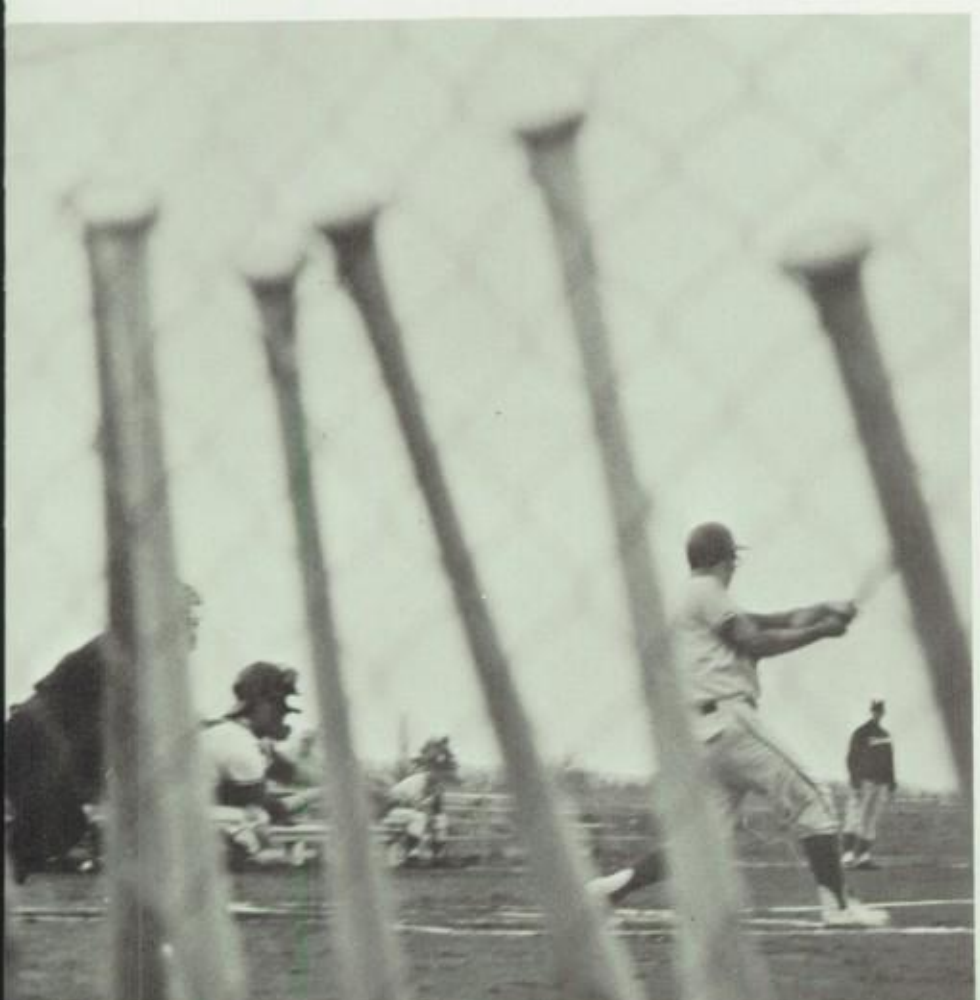
returning lettermen give hope to '71 season

EXPERIENCE and depth should result from the 1970 baseball season. The team didn't qualify for City honors, but the bench was full of hope. The Falcons lone City victory was over South. They beat Circle, 4-3, in a non-league contest. Coach Ron Johnson had 10 returning lettermen for '71 spring campaign.

Returning junior lettermen were David Brewer, Lyman Covey, Victor Gates, John Grant, Jim Harlan, Lloyd Kelly, Ralph Saner, and manager Steve Smith. Rick Banister was the lone soph returning letterman.

Steve Anderson, Roger Kucharek, Dan Moss, David Nigg, Fred Underwood, and Kevin Winter were the departing lettermen. During the last three years these seniors made up the backbone of the squad.

FRAMING BATS — reveal tense moment as Falcons, at bat, hope for a run against the North Redskins.



CONCERNED COACH — R. Johnson on the bench hopes his runner makes it safely to third base.

new courts bring higher hopes for '71 season

EFFORT — pays off for Larry Huffman, '71, in practice as he returns the ball for a counter.

WITH THE HELP of the tennis courts, new last season, the team finished third in the City standings, the highest in the history of the school. The '70 season ended at the regional tournament.

THE STRETCH — then Mike Prokes, '71, zinged the ball over the net in a practice session.

TENNIS SQUAD — FRONT ROW: P. Fenton, W. Comstock, N. Brady, M. Prokes, D. Mundy, K. Richey. ROW 2: J. Brookhouser, C. Woods, D. Jirrels, L. Huffman, Coach S. Shankar, G. Trent, P. Strickland, G. Womack, M. Ruhl.

OFF TO PRACTICE — George Harpool, '72, puts his clubs in the trunk then joins his carload of golfers heading for Sim Park and practice.

HEFTY SWING — of Robin Calamaio, '71, gives his opponents something to fret about.

golf

pins hopes on lettermen

THE GOLFERS wrapped up their '69-'70 season with a record of one win and six losses to take seventh place in the City League.

Coach Lafayette Norwood termed the golfers season as "poor" but went on to say that the '70-'71 season looks "encouraging."

The '71 golf team had four returning lettermen, Britt Buckley, '72; Glenn Etherington, '72; Mike Lanterman, '72; and Robin Calamaio, '71. Tom Clark, Rick Alley, and Mike Rettig were the three departing lettermen.

The golfers saw regional action at Great Bend. Heights, however, did not qualify for state competition in the spring of '70.

GOLF SQUAD — FIRST ROW: D. Nutter, J. McCalla, G. Harpool. ROW 2: B. Bowman, F. Baker, T. Clark, R. Alley, M. Rettig, R. Calamaio. ROW 3: G. Etherington, B. Buckley, M. Lanterman, B. Johnston. ROW 4: D. Henderson, E. Valeet, R. Ceaser.

LETTERWOMEN — FRONT ROW: J. Owens, D. Endicott, S. Hinson, T. Rader. ROW 2: L. Postlethwait, P. Thorpe, D. Mason, J. Keller, Sponsor Miss Jean Drake. The honor of wearing a sports letter went only to girls who earned enough points to qualify.

IT'S BASEBALL — in the spring that lures girl atheletes outside. A Falcon swats one in the South-Heights game.

HOPING FOR A STRIKE — Debbie Thompson, '73, releases the ball. On bowling days the girls rode the bus to Crestview Bowling Alley for their physical education workouts.

SOMETHING NEW — competitive swimming was added to the program. Mrs. Linda Hagler (talking) gives Gail Wagoner, '72, and Clara Curtis, '72, advice. Both girls were members of the team.

girls sports

they covet the big 'H'

WORKING HARD to earn the coveted "H", over 30 girls participated in field hockey, tennis, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, softball, and swimming during the year.

To earn the "H", 1,000 points was required. Competing in four or more sports, washing cars, selling programs, buttons, donuts to earn money were among the things that qualified a girl to wear the "Big H" on her jacket.

For the first time a competitive girls swim team was organized with 13 to 15 girls entering a swim meet at North. North placed first with Heights finishing second.

Besides swimming, Mrs. Linda Hagler coached gymnastics and volley ball. Miss Jean Drake, department head, coached field hockey, tennis, basketball, and softball.

After each sport was over, they had a party at which the girls chose the Most Valuable Player and the Most Valuable Sophomore player of the particular sport. They also had a get aquainted party at the beginning of the year and a farewell party at the close of the year.

HOCKEY SQUAD — FRONT ROW: J. Owens, V. Matson, J. Keller, D. Mills, T. Rader. ROW 2: S. Hinson, B. Goerzen, J. Burden, V. Bardwell, R. Smith, D. Mason, V. Williams, B. Johnson, Miss Jean Drake, sponsor. They were third place winners in City competition.

CLASS OF '73 OFFICERS — Debbie Pitts, secretary; Brad Worman, president; Teddi Tashoff, vice-president, were chosen by their classmates, 586 in number, to direct sophomore activities for the Baby Falcons.

sophs show upperclassmen 'they have spirit'

WALKING THROUGH the halls those first days of school was a bewildering, and wondering experience for the new Baby Falcons, but confidence and self-assurance came with time and they weren't shy sophomores any longer. Getting to know each other was solved when they came to play games at the Sophomore Olympics, a Student Council sponsored activity.

Sophomore elections were delayed until October, but that didn't discourage them. They quickly became invloved in the many activities of Student Council. The Class of '73 turned into a highly spirited class at competition during pep assemblies. This surprised upperclassmen, the showing of their togetherness and spirit. Many girls joined Pep Club in large numbers having a lot to cheer about because of a winning sophomore football team.

As the year went on the sophomore class became part of the school, getting used to old traditions and getting involved with school activities such as choir, the many clubs, sports, going to games, and dances.

Part of being a sophomore is looking up to the juniors and seniors and thinking of the day they will be seniors and lead the school to greater achievements.

BECOMING JUNIORS meant many things for the Class of '72. They became more involved in more school activities. They felt more united as a class. The 536 members displayed class pride by winning the spirit stick at several pep assemblies.

During the summer juniors busied themselves by making cookies and cakes for bake sales. Throughout the year they showed films to raise money.

At the annual junior-senior powderpuff game temperatures were low, but spirits and tempers were high. Although they were defeated by the seniors, junior Honor Pep girls planned to win the match next year.

Earning recognition for their numerous accomplishments in drama, music, debate, and sports they proudly wore letterjackets and medals to show they had scored major achievements.

Juniors took PSAT and National Merit Tests with the hopes that they might earn college scholarships. Class rings identified juniors as true Falcons. This was a cherished part of their high school life. The climax came at the end of the year when seniors turned the juniors' class rings.

As their junior year came to an end, the Class of '72 looked forward to honor passes, leadership, graduation, and all of the special privileges that go along with being senior Falcons.

what class but '71 could do so many things?

WE'RE THE CLASS known for fun. We're the Class of '71.

Which Class but the seniors could start off the year by placing 89 seniors on the first nine weeks honor roll?

Who but the senior class could think of the successful idea of selling t-shirts that read "I'm proud to be a farmer" on them?

Who but the seniors could win the annual Powder Puff game, could sponsor delicious chili suppers, and outyell the underclassmen in numerous pep assemblies for possession of the Spirit Stick?

Who but the seniors studied hard, took ACT tests, and filled out scholarship forms looking onward to a future beyond graduation?

Seniors! No one else. No class could compare to the drive, exuberance, and enthusiasm that the Class of '71 shared for their school and with fellow classmates.

Yes, the Class of '71 enjoyed being seniors and the privileges that went along with being one.

We were neat and cool, and, even though the year was our last, we made it the best possible. There will always be memories to look back on and relinquish, but, for now we must not look back but forward. Much is yet to come.

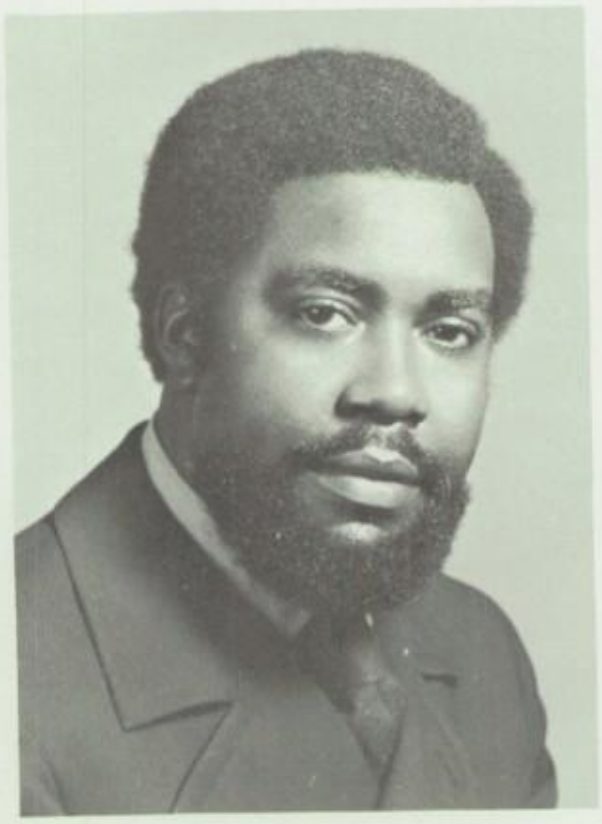
assistant principal begins duties in november



LATECOMER — Mr. Willie Johnson replaced Mrs. Claradine Johnson in the capacity as assistant principal.

NEW ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL Willie Johnson came to the Home of the Falcons, November 17. Before coming to Heights he taught three art classes and was Title I coordinator for Horace Mann Junior High as well as an assistant director for the Upward Bound program.

Mr. Johnson succeeded Mrs. Claradine Johnson who was appointed the middle of October as coordinator of the newly established Metropolitan Secondary Program Center, South Topeka, for the city, a school established for students in need of special help and who were unable to attend regularly scheduled classes in the city high schools.

Duties of Mr. Johnson included the scheduling of school activities and administrative and discipline problems of sophomores.

Mr. Johnson received his masters degree from the University of Colorado. "There was a great need for a black administrator at Heights," Mr. Johnson said, and he had sort of an open type relation with all students. It was a relation that offered security, hope, communication, and understanding."

Within a short time he was swept into action and involved in the complexities of Falcon activities. He became a part of us. Students and faculty members soon learned that he found time for everyone though his schedule was time consuming.

pride — urges Falcons to excel

AS THE YEAR flew by there were many disappointments and few victories, but the Falcons kept trying. Even when defeated the Falcons still honored their school with a shout that rang in the corridors, "I'm proud to be a farmer!"

Pep assemblies kept school spirit alive throughout Flight 10. Senior as well as faculty skits with song and dance routines added fun and zest to pep assemblies. The Spirit Stick was a never ending challenge providing class competition for its possession.

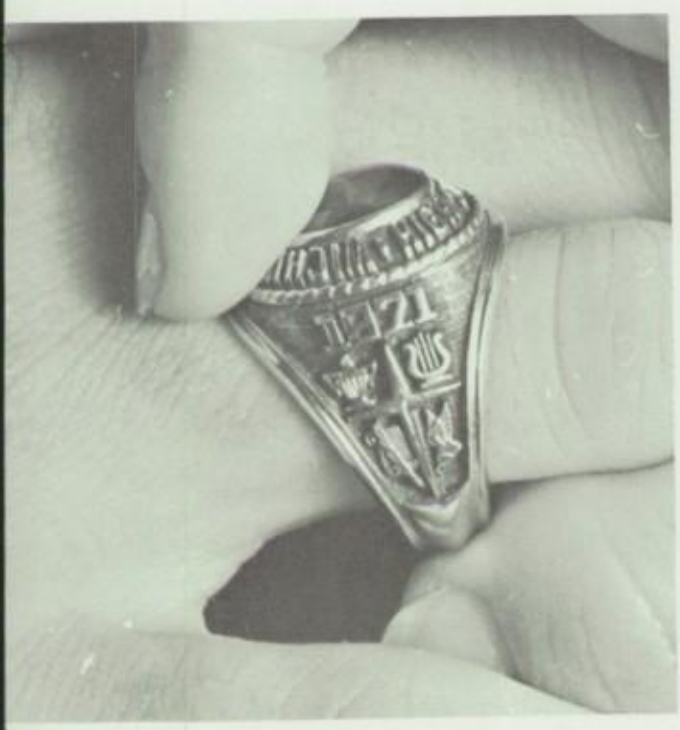
Senior class pictures were taken at Student Photos during the summer and were picked up by the individual student. Juniors ordered their class rings in September. By November they were wearing them. Sophomores learned the traditions and ways of Heights while waiting for their big moment — becoming juniors.

Awards were earned without exceptions in the 1970-71 school year. Debate and sports did their part in earning trophies for Heights. First displayed in the office, they were then placed in the trophy case to remind future Falcons of their heritage and pride to excel.

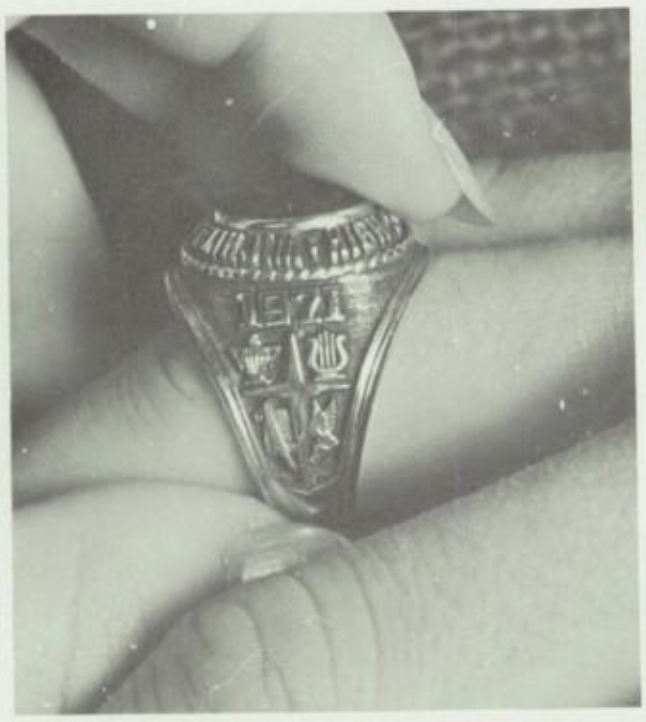
BEARER OF NEWS — Pam Jeter, '72, at the Black Studies assembly.

TRIPPING GAILY — Don Sweet, '72, and Jeanette Proctor '72, enter into a gay mood in the "Mr. Scrooge" musical.

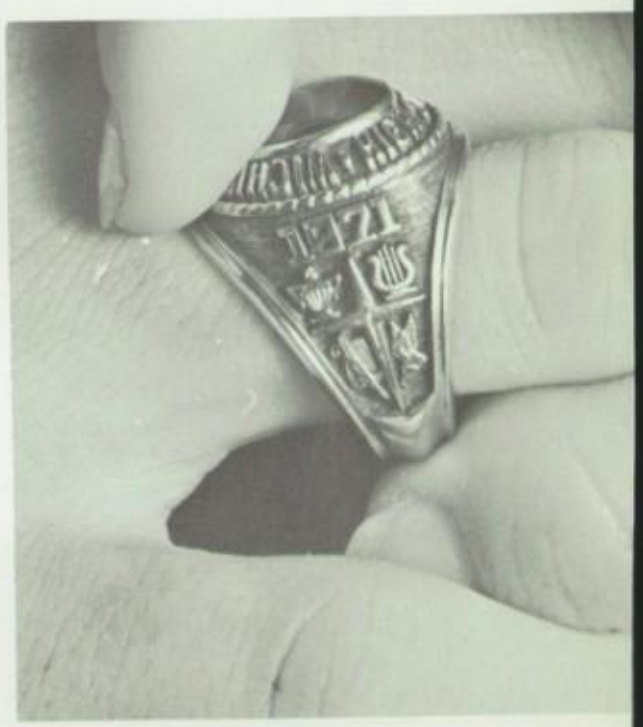
HOT FOOTIN' IT — the faculty, in a high stepping chorus line, get a rousing ovation from the student body.



TAKE OFF — for the traditional turning.



TURN — and kiss for luck.



RETURN — and you're a senior, officially.

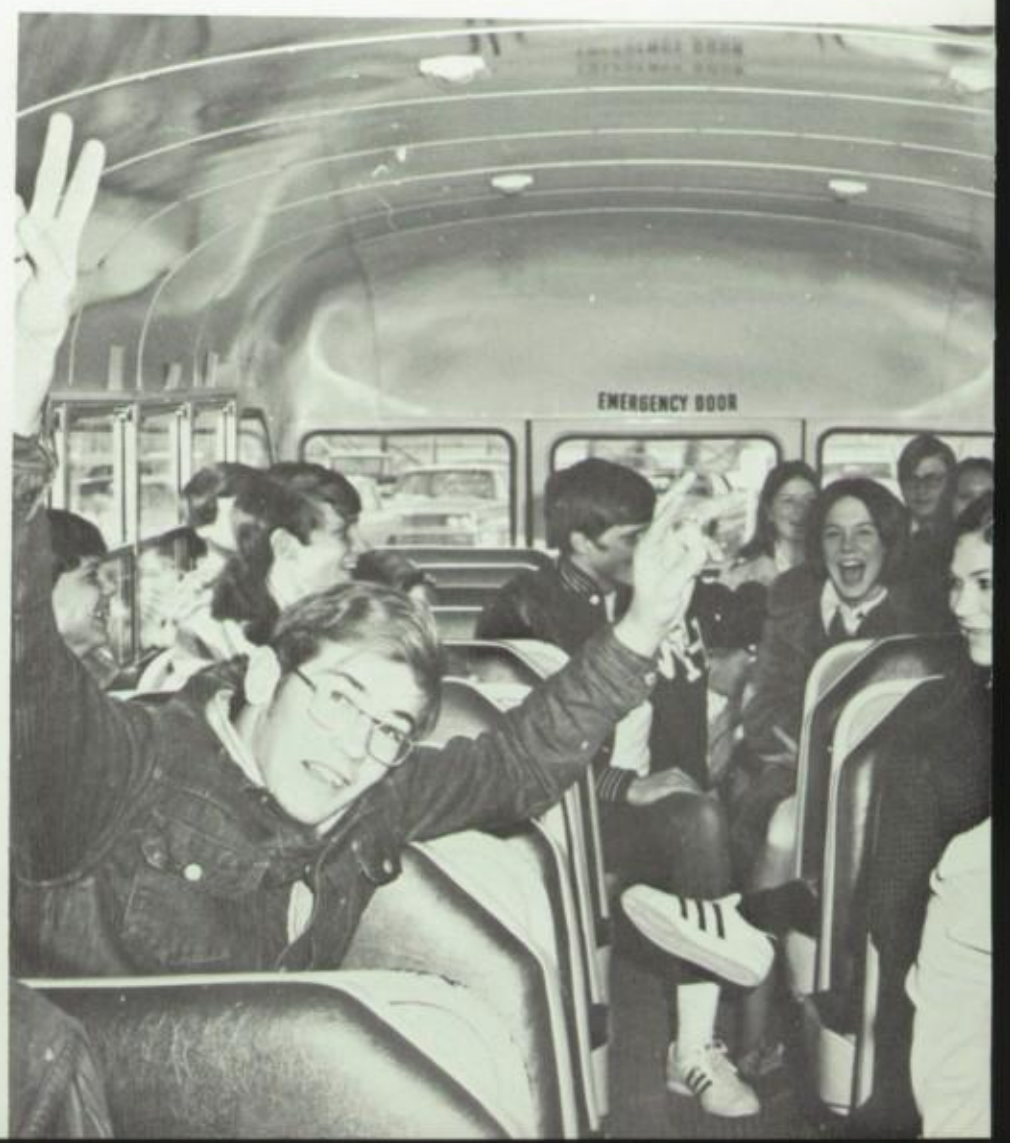
THE WAIT — before Steve Bowden, '71, announced the Talon King and Queen at the assembly. Candidates soon learned the result of student voting.

THINGS HAPPEN — at the Talon King and Queen crowning.

WHITE MAGIC — in the patio occurs when it snows.

BEFORE THE KISS — Cheryl Collins, '71, needed someone to hold the roses.

REMEMBER — the many field trips on buses?



HEAPED HIGH — the snow fascinated students in the cafeteria.

SURGERY — on a 27" dog fish shark fascinates juniors Richard Arizinger and David Sherman.

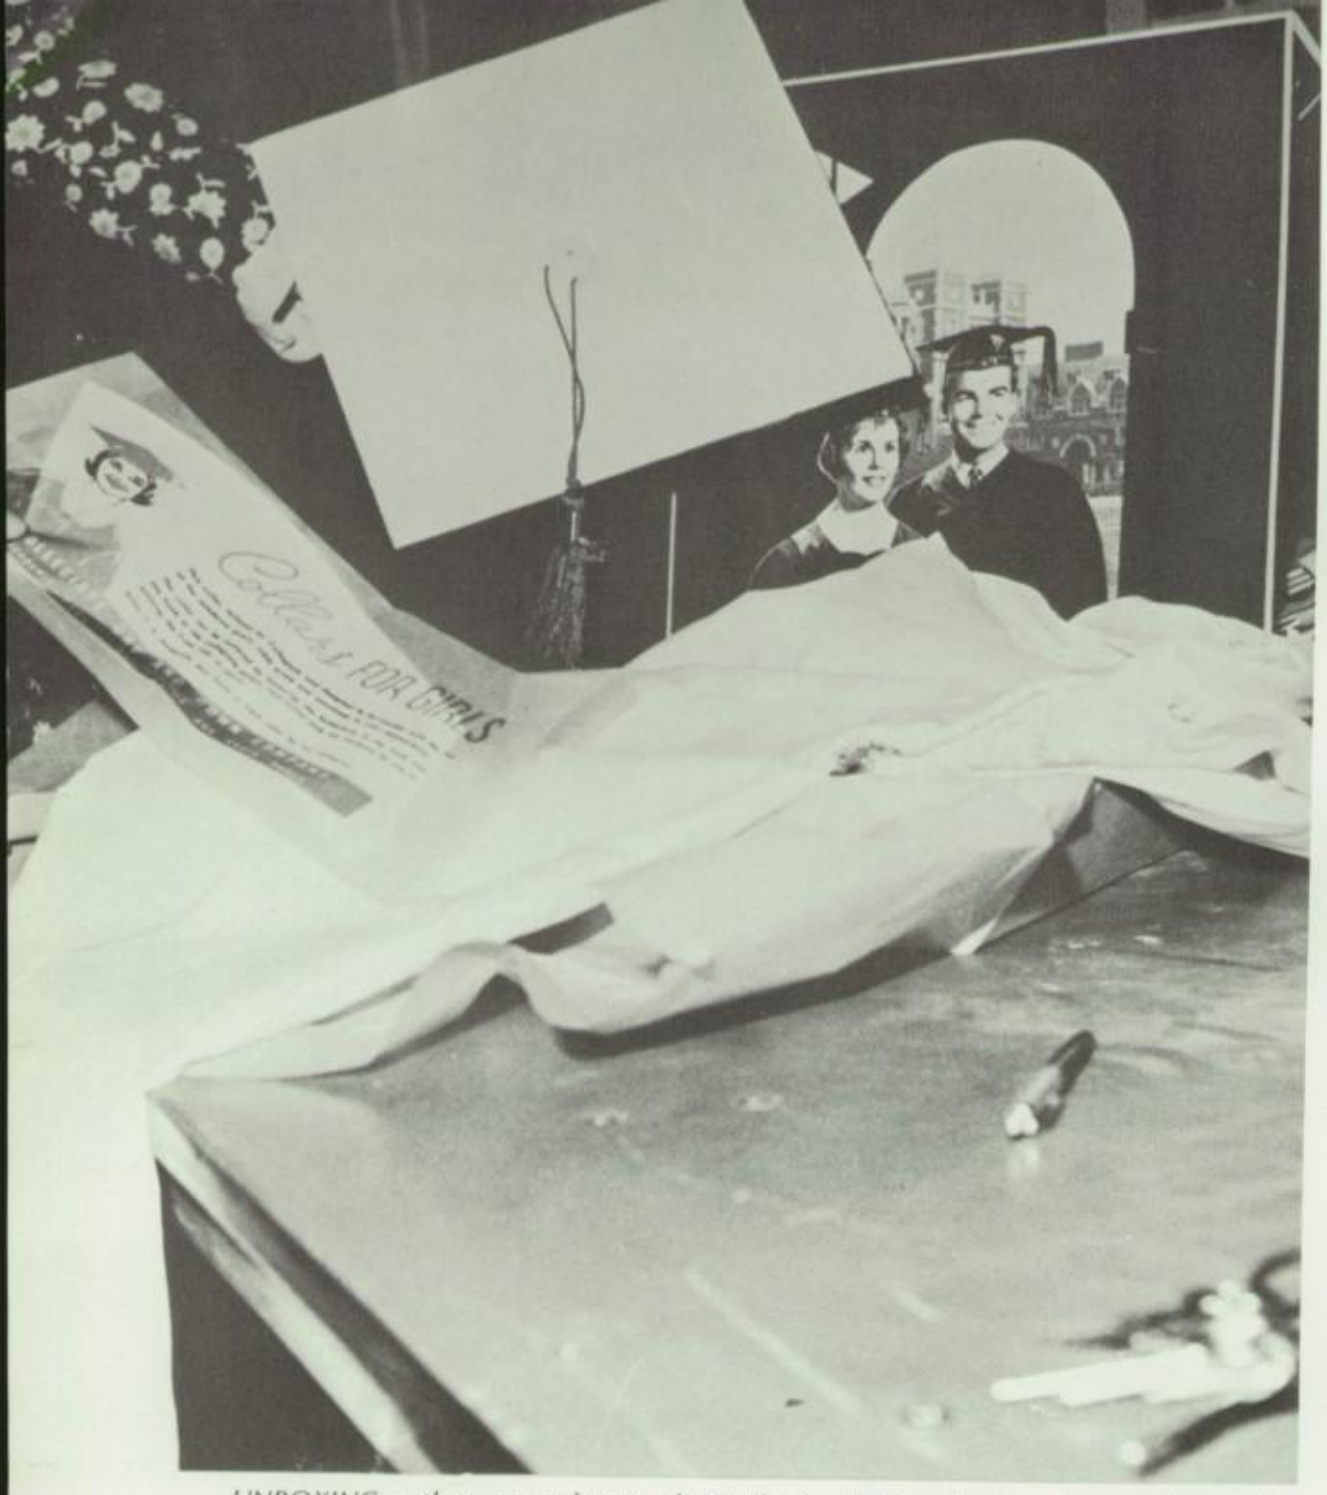
THEY WERE FUN, weren't they?

tension appears — atmostphere clears

ALTHOUGH FLIGHT 10 started with tension, fear, and conflict among students, the atmosphere became less tense and calmer as the year progressed. Occasionaly rumors of trouble spread throughout the school but they proved unfounded, and school activities took on a more normal atmosphere.

The junior-senior prom, sponsored by the senior class, was a big event for a large percentage of the students. It was the time for formals, tuxedos, dinner jackets, and corsages.

The academic side of school included term papers, tests, college entrance exams, and much hard work. Research at the city and WSU libraries plus long hours of composing ideas in a logical way was vital part of class research work. To the seniors who worked diligently, honor passes were issued with the privileges that went with them. Seniors earned the passes by making the honor roll with a 3.5 and above average. In order to keep their passes they had to maintain these averages.



UNBOXING — the caps and gowns brings back a deluge of pleasant memories for the '71 graduates.

WHITE GOWNED — the girls get ready for the procession.

new flights — new horizons

FLIGHT 10 came to a close. The sharing of laughter, tears, fears, and hopes were all a part of the past. For seniors, farmer friends, tractors, and the pigs next door were memories they would never forget. High school was only a small glimmer of light in knowledge, experience, and life. Through the help of understanding teachers, administrators, and underclassmen, the seniors ended their year with eagerness, anxiety, and new expectations of the future.

The Class of '71 started a new decade. What could happen in another 10 years will depend on today's younger generation. The Falcons were part of this generation. The Class of '71 held the key to the future, and were to set the example to the classes that followed them.

The big moment finally arrived. In black and white robes, approximately 450 seniors marched down the aisles of Henry Levitt Arena, May 24.

Each senior was poised to take off on a flight of his own in search of new horizons.

STEADY NOW — or was it nerves?

on closing

Capturing Flight 10 in motion took a good deal of work for every member of the Talon '71 staff. Now that it's here, we hope you find as much joy in reading this book as we did in editing it.

Special thanks go to Mr. Murl Jones, Student Photos, for our color pages and class pictures, Mr. Frank Wright, American Yearbook Representative, and a very special thanks to Mrs. Schneider, our adviser, for without her prodding, we would have never succeeded.
